

A Note on Using the AutoUpdate Utility

Please take note of the following problem in using the AutoUpdate Utility:

- With updating the Flash Development Toolkit to V.3.07 Release 00 using the AutoUpdate Utility

1. Description

Because the symptoms described in Section 2 occurred, we have suspended the update service to the Flash Development Toolkit V.3.07 Release 00 using the AutoUpdate Utility since this November 10.

So update the Flash Development Toolkit to V.3.07 in the method described below since the AutoUpdate Utility does not detect the update program of the toolkit V.3.07.

How to Update the Flash Development Toolkit to V.3.07:

Download its update program from Flash Development Toolkit Download site and install it.

2. Symptoms

Even if you have updated the Flash Development Toolkit to V.3.07 Release 00 using the AutoUpdate Utility on the host PC where the commercial edition of the Flash Development Toolkit V.3.06 Release 00 resided, symbol !, which indicates a new update is available, stays displayed on the icon of the AutoUpdate Utility provided in the system tray of the Windows' toolbar.

In addition, when you invoke the AutoUpdate Utility and step through the wizard that appears, "Flash Development Toolkit3.07 Release00 Upgrade" is displayed on the Select Updates window even if you have already installed the V.3.07 Release 00.

However, these symptoms don't arise presently because we have removed the update program of the Flash Development Toolkit V.3.07 Release 00 from the server for the AutoUpdate Utility.

3. Resumption of Update Service to the Flash Development Toolkit V.3.07 Release 00 Using the AutoUpdate Utility

Please be aware that we will inform you of the time of the resumption at a later date.
